OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

[FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW ENGLAND AND NEW YORK.
New York, July 11th, 1867.

We come back to New York after a three weeks ramble amid the quiet scenery and quaint customs of New England. The transition to this metropolis from a down-east Yankee village is about as great as one can find in the same number of hours, anywhere on the globe. The city of New York is a great Babel of business, noise and confusion. Her wealth is so vast that the annual incomes returned to the Internal Revenue officer by some of her merchant princes exceed a million of dollars each; her shipping is almost innumerable, and more than thirty ocean, coast-wise, and river steamers of large size, daily leave her piers. Her business men are untiring and energetic, and there is much of which she may justly be proud. And yet there is so much of which she should be ashamed. Her charities to all the world are annually counted by millions; to the South she has recently given more than four hundred thousand dollars, and yet vice, dissipation, poverty and the most degrading immoralities abound. Last night, as usual, Niblo's was crowded; the "Black Crook," as the bills state, re-newed by a fresh arrival of twenty six dancing nymphs, more nude than before, gave its three hundred and thirteenth performance. On Sunday, we looked in at Trinity Church when it lacked only ten minutes of the time for service, and there were eleven persons in the pews. How many of those were really righteous is doubtful.

A New England village is a pleasant resort in the dog-days when the thermometer is up among the nineties; especially one remotely situated among the mountains, where only occasionally an accidental traveler or an artist strays; where a circus or a big show never comes, and moral-reform sewing-societies and Hindoo-mission tracts are the first institutions of the town. The inhabitants are content year in and year out, to wear the old fashions; are full of neighborly kindnesses, neighborly gossip, neighborly prayer-meetings and neighborly scandals; "go to meetin'" regularly forenoon and afternoon; work out their taxes and pile stone three months every year; their fathers, grandfathers, and forefathers have been piling stone for two hundred years, and have only got here and there a patch clear of the rocks, they grind the sheep's noses to the lambs can pick out grass spears between the boulders, and they pry up the stones with crowbars; their highest ambition is to raise the biggest pumpkins, and sow the most picturesque bed quilts for the county Fair. There you will find the same old shingles-ters securely unroofing from Christmas around to Christmas; the carpets are turned and mended, and re-turned and re-mended, until the owners themselves are unable to say which side was originally the right one; the birds even use their own nests, because they can't find threads enough to build new ones, and sometimes carry economy to so fine a point that they stay in the shell to save feathering! There the same old Parson has preached for forty-seven years, and had a "donation visit" every October. There the washing is always done on Mondays—the ironing on Tuesdays—the baking on Wednesdays—the general over-hauling, cleaning-out, putting-to rights, burnishing and brushing-up, besides the visiting on Saturdays—and courting only on Sunday nights. Every individual remains in blissful ignorance of any other phase of life except their own.

DISPROPORTION OF THE SEXES.

A curious feature of society in these New England rural villages is the great disproportion of the sexes. A large majority of the young men, as soon as they become of age, or earlier, (if the old folks consent) emigrate to the cities and the west. No wonder then that the women who are left behind, and who for the most part can't go away, far outnumber the men. There is always a capital chance for any young man who wants to get married. He can take his choice among ten thousand.

It is an interesting development of the census, which observation extending over many years and different countries proves that there is of male births throughout the world, a pretty regular excess over females, of about four in every hundred, or four per cent. This seems to be a provision of nature to make up for the greater liability of boys and young men to fatal accidents. At middle age, the sexes are nearly equal in number, and of those persons who have attained fifty years, the females are largely in the majority, and the excess grows more and more marked up to the extremest limit of life.

In newly settled countries the excess of males is naturally great. Wherever a region has been developed to its full agricultural capacity, the sexual proportions begin to change. Young men seek other fields of enterprise, while few women go with them. Hence in all the New England States we observe a preponderance of females, while in the Western States the reverse is true.

The census of 1860 shows in all the United States an excess of about 730,000 males. And it is a singular fact that among the four and a half millions of slaves and free colored persons, there were only 8,342 more males than females, or only about two in a thousand.

In Great Britain and Ireland there is an excess of 877,000 females.

The State of New York passed the equalising point at 1850. Prior to that date, this State had an excess of males, but at the census of 1855 the proportion changed showing 10,912 more females; and in 1865 this difference ran up to 61,536. Of course the enormous drain of the war had much to do with this sudden increase. In 1860 Massachusetts had a female excess of 36,706, and in the new States and Territories the preponderance was the other way. Illinois has a male excess of 92,000, Michigan 40,000, Wisconsin 43,000, Texas 36,000, but California has presented the most unnatural distribution of the sexes of any State in the Union. In 1859 that embryo State had 85,586 males, and only 7,071 females. In 1860 there was still an enormous excess of males, viz: 259,923 to 98,187 females.

These figures are interesting, in view of the great question, now rapidly growing in importance, of female suffrage.

FEMALE SUFFRAGE.

Horace Greeley's platform, Universal Suffrage, and Universal Amnesty, is bound to become the watchword of American politics, and before the nineteenth century is ended the balance of power will be in the ballots of the two millions excess of females in America.

The champions of this cause are coming from every quarter and every condition of life. It is a little unpopular with the masses just now, and so the converts are kept back through timidity and doubt. There are now more than twenty Senators and forty Representatives in Congress who are really at heart in favor of female suffrage, but they wait the proper troubling of the waters before they plunge in. The ball is rolling and it can't be turned back. "Revolutions never go backwards." Political, moral or social, all are the same. Our Southern friends are learning this truth just now.

Some of the leaders of the old Democracy, even those "old wheel horses of the party," who prate about having voted the straight ticket and having nursed Democratic milk from their mothers, are actually taking counsel about taking the foreground in the new movement, with a hope of again riding a winning horse.

ARE THE YANKEES DYING OUT.

But to return to New England. The question is often asked, "Are the Yankees dying out?" We hope not. With all their faults and their puritanism, God never raised a better breed of men. But the following statistics about marriages and births in Massachusetts looks as though the foreign element even in that State had the surest leaven in their lump:

In 1864 the records show marriages of American born citizens to be 7,574, and only 1,625 births of American parentage. In 1865 the marriages 7,776 and the births 1,693. Only about one birth in every five marriages. Now compare the figures of the foreigners who have come into that State. In 1864, there were among these 3,549 marriages and 3,367 births. In 1865, 3,823 marriages and 3,552 births. This looks as though the German, the Irish and the other foreign elements would, in a short time, either run out or so inoculate the Yankee element of society as to produce even in Massachusetts a new order of things.

OREGONIANS IN NEW ENGLAND.

We came across several Oregonians sojourning in their old New England homes. There is Hon. Benj. Stark, an ex United States Senator from Oregon, to whom President Johnson has recently tendered the Governorship of the new territory Wahtensia. He will probably decline the honors, or the Senate may not confirm. That body is not exactly in the mood, for an Oregon Democrat to fill that place Daniel and Pat Bradford and Harry Olmstead, with their families, and George Edes from Salem are among the Yankees.

NEW ENGLAND LIQUOR LAWS.

What would the good folks of Oregon say to the total abstinence laws of New England, as they are now being enforced? In Maine, they actually imprison a man if he sells a glass of cider, to say nothing of wine or lager beer. In Massachusetts they are having a good time, everything but rum and beer being criminal.

Some of the papers of Boston and other cities are profiting by the new law, as it requires all State constables, whenever they have forreted out a bottle of liquor, to make immediate advertisement of the important fact, in the public press.

According to Massachusetts theory, such is the demoralizing effect of all alcoholic and vinous fluids, that the mere handling of them will make a man deceitful as by a natural instinct. So the law does not allow an officer to even pocket a flask of whisky, the price of his nocturnal prowlings, but he must straightway hold it up in the sight of all men. If he is a spy upon Massachusetts, Massachusetts is a universal eye upon him. As soon as he has closed his hand upon a bottle, or found a lurking jug in some dark cupboard, he must forthwith advertise it with all the legal formalities as much as your sheriffs would a replevined horse, or a cargo of merchandize.

The same day, if he is not too late for the evening papers, or the next morning, the official advertisement appears, like the loud cackle of a hen over her daily egg. The following is one of a large batch which almost daily appears in the columns of the Boston Traveler, a daily city paper:

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS:—To WILLIAM WELCH, of Boston, in the County of Suffolk, and to any and all other persons claiming any interest in

About ½ gallon of Whisky, in 2 Jugs, 1 bottle,
About ½ gallon of Rum, in 1 jug,
About 1 pint of Gin, in 1 bottle,
About ½ gallon of Mixed Liquors, in 1 jug,
About 21 gallons of Ale, in 1 barrel, which by virtue of a warrant issued by the Municipal Court of the city of Boston, holden at said Boston, for the transaction of criminal business within and for said county, have been seized at the dwelling house of said Welch, in said Boston, on the third day of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty seven, the value of which liquors, in the opinion of said Court, exceed twenty dollars.

You are hereby required to appear before said Municipal Court, to be holden at Boston, in said County, for the transaction of criminal business, at ten o'clock A. M., on the nineteenth day of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven, to answer to the complaint against said liquors and the vessels containing them, and for that end to show cause, if any you have, why said liquors, and the vessels containing them, should not be forfeited for being kept for sale by said William Welch in violation of the laws of this Commonwealth.

Witness, JOHN WILLIAM BACON, Esq., at Boston, the 9th day of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven. JOHN C. LEIGHTON, Clerk

A true copy—Attest.
JAMES S HOLDEN,
Deputy State Constable

All this would be a not very profitable business, if the entire proceeds of sale are to pay the expenses. But what does the State do with the liquor? Who has the final disposition of it? Is it passed upon by a Board of Commissioners?

Among the stringent phases of the New England liquor laws, is a notification served upon the railroad and express companies to not allow the transportation of all liquors within the State. Not even a keg of lager beer is to be made the transit in safety. Of course there are a number of dodges resorted to, to evade the law—but the latest is reported, that certain corner groceries have engaged largely in the sale of a new kind of "cabbage plants." Every man who desires to plant in the garden some of the new sprouts, goes early for them—before the sun is fully up, to save waiting them. The plants don't thrive well and have to be renewed often before a crop can be successfully started.

A great fight is going on between the prohibitionists and anti prohibitionists throughout the State, and the next elections will turn altogether on this question.

AWARDS TO AMERICANS AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

By Atlantic Cable we have a full list of awards made to American exhibitors, in the Grand Exposition. There were 524 United States exhibits at the great Fair, and 262—or just one half—are reported as receiving some honorable award. The fact is a splendid natural commentary upon its peculiarly valuable character of American contributions.

The Engineer, one of the ablest European scientific journals, remarks of our Department as follows:

Although our Brother Jonathan, impeded by distance with his wares have had to travel, a very small quota to Paris, he has made a good selection in what he has sent. We doubt if in proportion to the amount of its exhibit, a more elaborately and really well-finished working can certainly none has the imprint of vigorous invention more clearly marked on its productions. Almost every machine and engine exhibited in the main gallery by the United States, has some special peculiarity stamped upon it, which, whether it be really an invention, or an improvement, or only a questionable modification, at least shows the extraordinary activity of North American thought.

The schedule of awards made by the examining committee or "Supreme International Juries" for the Exposition, comprises five different grades of prizes: 1st, Grand Prizes; 2d, Gold Medals; 3d, Silver Medals; 4th, Bronze Medals; 5th, Honorable Mentions. From the Report, we condense the following statement of articles, which have received these testimonials of great merit, arranged by States from which the

TUESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 13, 1867.

A Voice from the Toombs.

Just at this time when the reactionists, North and South, are at an utter loss to find a Presidential candidate, comes the very man they want to relieve them of their perplexity. The individual who thus opportunely appears in the arena of national politics, is no less a person than Robert Toombs, of Georgia, once a United States Senator and subsequently a Brigadier General in the service of the "Confederate States of America." He takes the field by issuing a proclamation to the Democracy in the form of a letter addressed to the Secretary of the Democratic National Committee, announcing his re-enlistment under the old banner of that party for a decisive campaign. He could have been engaged in the glorious work before now, but "having only recently arrived in the United States," whence he fled two or three years ago on account of some little unpleasantness not and temporary misunderstandings with the National Government, he was not fully aware of the wishes and objects of his Democratic friends But having now become fully acquainted with their proposed line of action, he offers himself as a leader "to establish and vitalize those (Democratic) principles." "The first Kentucky resolution," says he, "contains the principles of my whole political life. I have stood by them from my youth to this hour. I have maintained them in peace and in war, in power and out of power, in prosperity and in adversity; and I am as ready to-day as I was thirty years ago when I laid my political life as a sacrifice, 'to spend and be spent' in the sacred cause; and if my sacrifices had been a thousand times greater than they have been, I should consider them well spent for such a cause rather than accept any false interpretation of the American Constitution." If this declaration of principles doesn't fit for Toombs the support of the reactionary press, whose patience in the midst of difficulties and fidelity in time of adversity will be rewarded with the blackest ingratitude others have failed in their devotion to the first Kentucky resolution, then "peace" he never knew. In peace" he upheld as a "nullifier" in war he upheld it as a "secessionist." He has shown his faith by his works. His whole life was nothing more than an effort to carry out the principles of the first Kentucky resolution, and not so much the principles of the Virginia," and not so much the principles of the Kentucky resolutions. This was the idea Toombs acted upon, and who ought to know better than himself what the meaning is not the whole of Toombs' life? With a consistency that nothing can disturb, he declares: "I regret nothing in the past, I fear the dead and the failure and I am ready to use the best means I can command to carry out the principles for which I fought." The means can be best employed by the success of the Democratic party in the Presidential election. This platform is the one on which the Democracy, through their assistance he expects to carry the principles for which he fought and they offer he recognizes as the best means to carry out the results for which he has always labored in peace and in war." Though he admits the failure he can only try again by uniting in the Democracy to restore the Union and being victory out of defeat. It was left for Toombs, after trying to know that the retrogression of the Democracy at last found a leader. In Toombs does not appear to be a man who has evinced his fidelity to the Democracy in so unmistakable a manner as to justify the confident belief that will be perfectly true to his future. He solemnly affirms that the key to his political principles is the first clause of the Kentucky resolutions of 1798, and only three or four days ago Governor Morgan of Oregon Democracy affirmed that they have always been the platform of the Democracy. Toombs therefore seems to be the man for the hour. The party is spared the trouble of selecting a leader. For a Presidential candidate Toombs is available now that Toombs has taken the field, for neither of them has given a pledge of future devotion to the Resolutions of [illegible]

FROM GENERAL SHERIDAN.—Masons were invited to attend the laying of the corner-stone of a soldier's monument in Detroit, on the 4th inst., and the following letter from General Sheridan was read:

HEADQUARTERS 5TH MILITARY DIVISION,
NEW ORLEANS, June 27, 1867.

Colonel John Robertson, Detroit, Michigan—Colonel: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your kind invitation to attend the laying of the Michigan Soldiers' Monument Association on the occasion of laying the corner stone on the 4th of July. I regret that my official duties will be unable to attend. I would give me the greatest pleasure to again be with those with whom I first started to assist in putting down the rebellion the officers and soldiers of the Michigan cavalry, also the gallant officers and soldiers with whom I had the honor to come up to the surrender of the rebel armies, and the war with me has been a real heart and now it affords the gratification of this desired pleasure.

I am, General very respectfully
Your obedient servant,
PHIL H. SHERIDAN,
Major General.

We find in the Enterprise the San Francisco Times' account of the contemplated visit of Gen. Grant to Washington in relation to Sheridan. The Journal states that Grant had several interviews with the President and Stanton on the removal during last [illegible] Grant's views on the Reconstruction Act to place on him a part of the responsibility for its [illegible] all execution by officers under him and under command because he opposition to Sheridan's [illegible] Whose conduct by the President he [illegible] his opinion that in no one could he place [illegible] trust than in Sheridan.

The Gubernatorial election took place in Kentucky on the 5th inst. A dispatch states that the Democratic Conservative-rebel majority, [illegible] John L. Helm is chosen Governor. Nobody expected any different result in Kentucky But Tennessee, with her large Republican majority preserves the equilibrium.

The Albany Evening Journal says that General Grant stands alone and prominent, like Chimborazo among the mountains." The Boston Advertiser says if he is prominent it is hardly fair to ask why him as one of the Andys.

Dispatches to the San Francisco Times state that in Memphis, Brownlow's majority was nearly 3,000, and in Nashville, 2,500.

STATE ITEMS.

Judge Susan Mallory arrived at his home in Salem, on Friday last.

M. H. Woodward, of Coos county, has a volume of poetry in press. We judge that the editor of the Roseburg paper has seen some of the sheets, as he speaks of the book as being one of "rare excellence."

The last number of the "Oregon Pyslo Medical Journal" is [illegible]. This number closes the first volume. The first of September the Journal will be enlarged to 64 pages, and the price reduced to two dollars per year. Published at Salem by Dr. J. O. Shelton.

The Grand Lodge of this State, at its last session, granted a charter for the institution of a Masonic Lodge at Umatilla. On the 25th of July, a lodge was organized by the Masons of that place, entitled Umatilla Lodge, F. & A. M., No. 40, and the following officers were elected and installed: A. E Rogers, W. M.; Michael Power, S. W.; Moses Davis, J. W.; H. C. Palce, Secretary; P. Rutherglath, Treasurer; Mr. Nish, S. D.; R. E. Lansdale, J. D.; Thomas Pearson, Tyler.

The Roseburg Ensign has the following: Mr. R. Mosley has laid on our table a very large oyster, taken a bed of these bivalves a few miles west of this [illegible] at an altitude of about 2,000 feet above the sea. Although to all appearances they are of an excellent quality, and would have furnished a savory dish, for [illegible] mountains," in his early manhood, he [illegible] now have the solidity of marble, and we are satisfied about their culinary merits from mere observation. To the student of Geology, these fossils will be a peculiar interest, they are numerous and found imbedded in diluvium, and are often accompanied by other marine deposits intermingled with debris of primitive rocks.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug 11.—Capt. Swan, of the schooner Sarah, has been arrested on a charge of smuggling. It will be remembered that the Sarah, capsized a few days ago off Santa Cruz, and it was found that her cargo was gone. The captain having stated that he had gone into Drake's Bay several times on account of stress of weather. Something led the revenue officers to make a visit to Drake's Bay. They accordingly took the U. S. revenue cutter, Wyanda and proceeded there, and after searching there for sometime discovered a cave in which were stored 26 casks of alcohol. They returned to town and arrested Capt. Swann and crew. Another search will be made in the neighborhood of Drake's Bay. There is little reason to doubt that insurance companies were to be made to bleed for the amount written on the cargo, and the spirits were then to be brought back to the city and sold without having been entered at the Custom House, or run off to some other port and there disposed of. The owner would of course have obtained the insurance in good faith, but the conspirators would have made the cargo clear by the operation.

ASCENT OF MT. ADAMS.—A party of gentlemen and ladies consisting of the following named persons, lately made an excursion to Mt. Adams, the famous ice cave and other places in the vicinity: R. J. Joselyn, of White Bluffs, Clicki at county, W. T.; A. R. Booth, White Bluffs, W. T.; R. L. Brooks and Malcolm Moody, Dalles, Klickitat county, W. T.; Miss Millie Wells, Walla Walla; Chas Coe and Henry Coe, Hood river; W. C. Johnson and Mrs. Mary Winslow, Oregon City; Miss Julia Johnson, Oregon City; Miss Catherine Aubert, Hood river; Mrs. A. C. Phelps, Hood river Miss Emma Tanner, White Salmon, Miss Rachel Scales Celilo, and an Indian guide, Kish-kish-kantan. They left the mouth of White Salmon river on Wednesday July 31st; visited the ice cave; reached Mt. Adams Monday, Aug. 5th. On the 6th, Johnson, Brooks, Booth, Kele, and Mr. Johnson and Au. Aubert made the ascent of Mount Adams, reaching the summit from the snow line in seven hours. Brooks descended on a tin plate in one hour and twenty minutes. The ladies, with the rest of the party, were about two and a half hours in descending. Several of the party suffered for a day or two with inflamed eyes, and the usual compliment of blistered lips and peeled noses are on exhibition at the several homes of the parties. The entire party on their return reached the White Salmon on Friday, Aug 9th, and Mr. Johnson reached this city last evening, on his way home. His description of the ice cave is quite interesting; but as he has promised to write for us a description in detail of the cave and the manner of getting out the ice for commerce, we defer comment on it for the present.

CIRCUIT COURT—SHELTON, JUDGE.—The following are the proceedings in the Circuit Court, Monday, August 12th

John A Carr vs. John Munroe; judgment upon the verdict of the jury for $4,071 05

Wm Barrows vs Henry L. Pittock; judgment upon the verdict of the jury for defendant, plaintiff to pay the costs

John M Hulary vs. W. C. Wilson; continued by consent till the next term of court.

Thomas Carey, Administrator de bonis non of the estate of Ralph Kendall, plaintiff, vs Stephen Coffin, defendant; judgment for plaintiff for $2,724 40

Jas F. Lewendale, Administrator of the estate of D. H Lewendale vs S Coffin, motion to strike out parts of complaint sustained in part and overruled in part, and plaintiff allowed ten days to file amended complaint.

Chas Ogburn vs. A. M. Loryea; judgment on verdict for plaintiff for $1,320.

A. M. Loryea vs C. Shultz and wife and J. C. Hawthorne; referred to W S Caldwell to hear proofs and report his findings of facts upon all the issues.

John Terwilliger vs G. P. Rosencrist; by consent of parties case continued till the next regular term.

H Small admitted an attorney at law in this court.

SUPERNATURALLY EXCITED.—This city was somewhat excited yesterday under the combined influences of the late preaching of Rev Todd, the "tests" of Madam Foye, the "thrashing" by Dr Bryant, and the reported arrival of a new wonder than all these—a "seeing medium"—by the steamer Continental. Wherever two or three were gathered together, there was sure to be some mention made of one or the other of these celebrities; consolation was sought of Todd in bold eloquence, of Foye's wonderful powers, of Bryant's magical healing, or the unknown, yet unseen, wonders hereafter to be exhibited by Mrs Stowe While these various matter were undergoing discussion in an animated group on the wharf, and various opinions were being hazarded as to which of them in reaping the richer financial harvest, one gentleman remarked the opinion that, however well they are doing, the Insane Asylum will soon be a better thing for dividends than either of them.

FROST ON MOUNT CITY.—Mr. Pratt informs us that the P. T. Co will have the repairs to the Oregon City and Canemah railroad, completed this week Though the water is nearly as low as at any time last year, the steamers are doing the transportation of freight into and out of the basin, and it is not yet certain that the railway will be used. The managers have it in contemplation to try their boat lighters, in case the steamers cannot get in and out during the whole summer; and they are merely getting the railroad repaired so that, if all other means fail, they can resort to that as formerly.

THE HEIGHT OF MT. HOOD.—Mr. C. W. Burrage, late city surveyor, has recently been making some calculations on the height of Mt. Hood His conclusion is that the altitude of the mountain is less than 12,000 feet. We saw a letter a day or two since from T. W. Davenport's survey of Marion county, in which he gives the altitude, as ascertained from triangulations, at very nearly the same figures. We have, also, learned that Prof Whitney's calculations (lately mentioned) were based upon observations taken at some point on the Columbia river.

THE TURF.—An interesting race is to take place on Wednesday, over Charley Bird's track, near Vancouver, between Shea's mare and an Oregon horse, name not learned The stakes are $500 a side, and the race is to be a single dash of a mile. The Oregon horse is a stranger to all but a few of the initiated backers and, we learn the usual backers of Shea's mare, are sanguine that a catch is to be played on them. The prospective race is exciting considerable interest in sporting circles.

LIKELY TO DIE.—Mr. Jamison, informs us that C. O. Lander, who was shot by the Deputy Sheriff of Columbia county, some days since, has been suffering intensely since his removal to Washington county, and that his physician has very little hopes of his recovery. It will be necessary to amputate his broken leg, and the operation will be attended with imminent danger, owing to the bad state to which the wound has reduced the poor fellow's limb.

THE SIZE OF WHAT NEWSPAPER.—Our item yesterday morning about the mammoth newspaper, The Constellation, through a blunder of the compositor, stated the size to the following ambiguous and unmeaning language: "The size of the paper is seventy by one hundred and four columns," etc. It should have read. "The size of the paper is seventy by one hundred inches, and contains one hundred and four columns," etc.

I. O. G. T.—The following is a list of the officers of McMinnville Lodge, No. 65, I O G T, installed on the 10th inst., by D W C T, J M Johns: Joel H Johnson, W C T; Miss S Berry, W R H S; Miss Millie Warren, W L H S; Miss E A Rash, W V T; Alfred Kinney, W R S; Miss Florence Smith, W A S, Miss Sarah Bean W T; Mary E Rash, W I G; Henry Brown, W O G; J M Johns, W C, John H Hall, P W C T.

SUPERINTENDENT'S COURT.—At the morning session of the Recorder's Court, yesterday, P Hooper for disorderly conduct in the Mammoth saloon, was fined $5 and costs.

Albert Johnson, a Mexican, had a trial on the charge of assault with a knife upon John Wesley, an Indian. The evidence showed the offence to be a minor one, and the defendant was given two days in jail.

SAMUEL HANCHE wishes us to state that "Lodopoly regrets the unpleasant circumstance that occurred last Wednesday night, in regard to the reserved seats, it being in consequence of having sent his Agent to Salem. Those gentlemen who did not get their seats can have the extra money refunded to them by calling at the box office."

THE STEAMSHIP MONTANA.—It is probable we shall not see this steamer again in our waters. She has been put up for Honolulu; to leave San Francisco September 6th. The C C & N Co., to which she belongs, has secured the contract for a monthly mail service between that port and Honolulu, for ten years to come.

FOREST GROVE EXPRESS.—The impression having got abroad that Mr. Jamison has changed his days for leaving Forest Grove, he desires us to state that he leaves that end of his route as heretofore, on Mondays and Thursdays

MATCH GAME.—This is the day appointed for the concluding game in the match between the Clackamas and the Occidental clubs, to be played at Oregon City. The City nals will go up this morning on the Fannie Troup

PAPERS.—Mr. S. J. McCormick, yesterday, as usual furnished us copies of newspapers and pictorials received by the steamer—Harper's Magazine, Harper's Weekly, Leslie's Illustrated and the leading eastern journals

THE CONTINENTAL'S FREIGHT.—The steamship Continental, which arrived yesterday morning, brought about four hundred and fifty tons freight.

B. B.—The Eclipse B. B. Club will meet for practice this afternoon at half-past four.

TO SAIL.—The steamer Fidelitor will sail for Victoria this evening at 7 o'clock.

The steamship Continental will sail for San Francisco, at 7 o'clock P M, Thursday, the 15th.

FIREMAN'S PARADE.—At an adjourned meeting of Vigilance Hook and Ladder Company, held last evening, the company voted to join in the Annual Parade of the Fire Department, on the first Monday in september.

WILLAMETTE FREIGHTS.—Arrived per steamer Senator, yesterday, 1,360 sks flour, 2 sks feed, 10 boxes fruit, 28 M ft lbs lumber 1 mule, 2 pigs and hog, 2 pkgs mdse and lot of saloon furniture.

MISTAKE OF THE PRINTER.—India rubber neck-ties, at Barman Bros., are sold for 50 cents, instead of 25 cents, as the printer got it yesterday morning

WE ARE INDEBTED to Mr Chas Barrett for a bundle of pictorials and newspapers received yesterday by the steamer.

THE YOUNG PROVERBS will practice at half past four o'clock this afternoon.

MEDICAL.—There is a dispatch at the Telegraph Office for James Van Brunner

BARMAN BROS have received another lot of those fine black cloth coats at $20, on corner of Front and Morrison streets, formerly City of Paris Store

THE FAMILY DYE COLORS.—Nothing has obtained so wide a reputation, nor one more merited than the Family Dye Colors of Howe & Stevens The colors include every desirable shade, and are as fadeless as they are beautiful.—Sold by Smith & Davis

FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF IDAHO—BOISE CITY, I. T.—Organized March 11th, 1867, (with circulation) under Act of Congress, approved June 3d, 1864. Authorized capital $500,000. Paid up capital, $100,000 H. M Dalbell, President. C W Shorn, Cashier. Collections of Notes and Accounts on the principal places in Idaho Territory promptly attended to. Exchange for Gold or Currency this Bank can be purchased of Ladd & Tilton, Portland, Oregon.

PERFECTLY ENRAPTURING.—Such were our feelings as we stepped into the Music and Art Gallery of W. T. SHANAHAN, on First street, a few days since, and listened to the delightful tones and harmony which came from one of Mason & Hamlin's Cabinet Organs From the soft breathing flute tones to the thundering bass of the pipe organ, all was equally free and sweet And why is it other makers cannot produce instruments like those? Mason & Hamlin were the first to introduce the Cabinet Organ, and have gained such world-wide notoriety that it requires the work of two large factories to supply the demand for these valuable instruments.

RHEUMATISM CURED!

PORTLAND, August 10th, 1867.

I HAVE SUFFERED A LONG TIME WITH RHEUMATIC Pains, and until now have found nothing to relieve me. To-day Mr. J. G. Rennick called at my store and assured me that he could cure me in a few minutes. I thought he was mistaken, and laughed at him, but found to my surprise that a few moments after the application of the SITKA LINIMENT, I was relieved of my pains, and I am now improving very fast. I now believe it will cure me in a few days. For further information call at my store, No. 132 First street.

E. WEGNER.

SPRAINED WRIST CURED.

PORTLAND, August 10, 1867.

I was at Mr. Wegner's store on Saturday, August 10th, and seeing the magic effect of J. G. RENNICK'S SITKA LINIMENT, in his case, concluded to try it on my wrist which has been sprained for some time. I found relief inside of FIVE MINUTES from its application, and it is now perfectly well My wrist was so swelled I could not clinch my fingers I believe it will cure any pain in a short time I will give any further particulars to whoever calls on me.

VINCENT McCULLOUGH,
Corner of Fifth and College streets.

Tumor Removed!

PORTLAND, August 10th, 1867.

I HAVE USED RENNICK'S SITKA LINIMENT for pain and swelling of the gums and cheek. I had a large tumor forming on the gum which arose from killing the nerve in my tooth and caused me a dreadful pain which prevented me from sleep for several nights. I applied the Liniment, and to my surprise, it removed the lump and eased the pain so that it is now as well as the other cheek My cheek was fearfully swollen. This was done in the presence of two witnesses.

I. MITCHELL

I was present and know the above to be true, and am willing to swear to it L. QUIVEY,

PORTLAND, August 12th, 1867.

For five years I have suffered with a pain or weakness in my back, which at times was dreadful. I often thought I could not bear such torment But I got a bottle of RENNICK'S SITKA LINIMENT, and with one rub it perfectly cured me I can recommend it to any lady suffering from pains in any way, for I am convinced it will at once remove them. DORR COHN,
Corner of Fourth and Taylor streets.

Any person who does not believe this can call, and I will convince them.

A good effect is felt at once upon making the first trial. No change of diet is necessary. Eat the best you can get and all you want. Follow our directions and you will soon feel

WELL, STRONG AND HEARTY.

A great many side hits are being made at the Plantation Bitters, by a score or two of disinterested friends who have endeavored to imitate or counterfeit them. It's all of no use. The people won't be imposed upon. The Plantation Bitters are increasing in use and popularity every day, and "that's what's the matter." They are the same sized bottle, and made just as they were at first, and will continue to be, or we shall stop making them.

They create a healthy appetite.

They are an antidote to change of water and diet.

They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.

They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.

They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.

They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.

They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.

They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache

They are the best Bitters in the world. They make the weak strong, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. The Recipe and full Circular are around each bottle Clergymen, Merchants, and persons whose sedentary habits induce weakness, Inactitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, liver complaint, constipation, &c., will find immediate and permanent relief in these Bitters. But above all, they are recommended to weak and delicate females and mothers.

They are sold by all respectable merchants. See that each bottle has our private United States Stamp over the cork and steel-plate side label.

Beware of refilled bottles. See that the stamp has not been tampered with. Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon is a swindler and impostor, and should be immediately reported to us.

Mustang Liniment.

OVER A MILLION DOLLARS SAVED!

Gentlemen:—"I had a negro man worth $1,200 who took cold from a bad hurt in the leg, and was useless for over a year. I had used everything I could hear of without benefit, until I tried the Mexican Mustang Liniment. It soon effected a permanent cure."

J. L. DOWNING.
Montgomery, Ala., June 17, 1869.

"I take pleasure in recommending the Mexican Mustang Liniment as a valuable and indispensable article for Sprains, Sores, Scratches or Galls on Horses. Our mules have used it for Burns, Bruises, Sores, Rheumatism, &c., and all say it acts like magic J. W. HEWLIN
Foreman American, Wells, Fargo's and Harnden's Express.

"The sprain of my daughter's ankle, occasioned while skating last winter, was entirely cured in one week, after she commenced using your celebrated Mustang Liniment.
Gloucester, Mass., Aug. 1, 1865. ED. BREED."

It is an admitted fact that the Mexican Mustang Liniment performs more cures in shorter time on man at least, than any article ever discovered. Families, livery men and planters should always have it on hand. Quick and sure it certainly is. All gen

A Strange Romance—Sketch of the Life of La Princess Achille Murat, of Florida.

In last Tuesday's issue of the Sentinel we had a local paragraph reporting the still critical condition of the good Princess Murat, after a three months' illness from typhoid fever. Believing that our readers will be glad to read whatever is published concerning her history, we transfer to our columns the following article, which we find in the Savannah News and Herald of the 1st instant, under the heading above.

Related to General Washington through both her father's and mother's family, and born of wealthy parents, accustomed from infancy to the luxury and elegance of a Virginia household "of the olden time," Kate married at fifteen, and returned after seventeen summers had passed over her head, a widow, with one child, to her parents. Sorrow followed the young mother. Her baby died, and once again Kate resumed her old habits and went to school. She said she remembered well the daily walk with her companions, carrying her books and slate to and from school, and the girls almost forgetting the sad episode in Kate's life, regarded her as one of themselves.

Her father was at this time involved in a law suit, which, ere long, reduced the family to comparative poverty. Unable to bear so great a change in the land of his forefathers, he determined to emigrate to Florida, and there he finally settled, living in log house consisting of two large, low rooms, the dark forest all around, with its birds, its flowers, and its almost unbroken solitude. And now Kate's bright, elastic spirit and helpful hands became invaluable to her mother; and was her chosen companion, and the principal duties of the household devolved upon her.

Col. Gadsden, formerly of South Carolina, was one of their neighbors, and frequently spoke of his intimacy with Achille Murat, then an exile from France, with a price set upon his head, living the life of an Indian on a plantation close by.

Colonel Gadsden had endeavored to persuade him to call on the new family lately arrived in his vicinity. The reply was, "No; I dont care to go among women—I hate them." Some days afterwards he was accidentally introduced to Kate's father, who was a practising physician. Murat, delighted to find in his new acquaintance a man devoted to literature and science, a lover of the poets and above all of Shakespeare, sought the society of the good doctor, and finally called at the log house and was introduced to the young widow, with whom he fell deserately in love. Kate must have been very lovely; her eyes still retain great beauty and softness of a shadowy grey, almost merging into blue when she became animated or excited; her eyebrows dark and pencilled, while the soft brown hair still curls round the fair face whose contour of which is extremely pleasing added to which she possesses a gracefulness of address and demeanor which in her younger days must have been perfectly bewitching. The Prince soon showed his admiration by the most delicate attention to the young widow, who still wore mourning for her first husband, and distrusted the idea of any other filling his place in her heart. She studiously repelled Murat's advances, upheld by her mother, who mocked the [illegible] impulsiveness of her eldest daughter, and besides he was an exile and a foreigner.

Her father, on the contrary, charmed with the keen perception of the cultivated mind, and thirst for knowledge, which early Murat, courted his society, while Kate refused to listen to his professions, and finally Murat left the house in despair, much to the astonishment of her father, who strenuously endeavored to overcome his daughter's objections, and succeeded so well that Kate promised to allow Murat to renew his visits. Nothing, however, was said to Murat on the subject, but, several days afterward, riding through the plantation, Murat [illegible] across his path a dead rattlesnake. "A good omen," he exclaimed; "still beautiful but deprived of venom." He turned, rode to the house of his lady love. She met him, as he entered with a smiling face and extended hand, and not long the compact was sealed. The reward to the young widow, "the American beauty," was married by a Justice of the Peace to the Prince Achille Murat, son of the late king of Naples, [illegible] before he had written to his exiled family announcing their full [illegible] to his marriage which was recorded in the Archives [illegible] Tallahassee, Florida.

After her marriage Madame Murat [illegible] to her husband's plantation [illegible] annually took charge of his affairs. He was a most generous soldier and, having never in youth known the value of money, he lavishly expended what remained of his former wealth. Finally, Madame Murat took the management of the plantation in her own hands, saving the crops or not, according to her own judgment.

The Indian, or Florida war, broke out and the entire population generally moved away from its borders. The Murats had for years lived in the greatest friendship with an Indian chief, who was in the habit of visiting them occasionally. He would arrive at their house at night, and if the Master had already retired, would announce himself [illegible] in their dining room, after kindling a large wood fire, never in any way disturbing or annoying his white friends, who highly appreciated the honesty of the Indian chieftain. Madame Murat often slept with her fears that he would set fire to the house. Murat now [illegible] to inquire of the Indian if [illegible] and good will of former peaceful days were to be continued through the dark and [illegible] times then threatening. "Yes," said the Indian, "you and your squaw safe."

They remained on the plantation; deeds of horror were committed daily by the Indians; and one day the lurid glare of a burning homestead, seen through the woods, attracted Madame Murat's attention. Hastily quitting her husband, he sounded his hunting horn, which quickly collected some neighbors and they hurried to the fire, only to find the Indians gone leaving a murdered mother lifelessly torn to pieces with her infant by her side, lying amid the burning homestead.

As this act had not been done by the Indians friendly to the Murats, Madame Murat now consented to leave Florida till peace was restored, but unable to endure the anxiety consequent upon separation from her husband, again she returned to her home, and a few days after, being alone in her house, she perceived an Indian chief with five companions, dressed in war costume, covered with paint and feathers, approaching the house. She hastily stepped out to meet them. "Whisky," said the chief. "I have none to give you," she replied. "You know that in these times we have none." The chief paused, then put out his hand, she grasped it with her own. "Friends," he said, "squaw safe."

From this time the Murats remained unmolested on their estate during the six years' war, though often alarmed by making use of lights in their house at night, dreading that they might attract to the house bands of marauding Indians, who frequently prowled around their home. Madame Murat mentioned that during a severe illness of her husband, she nearly lost his head in darkness, often putting her hand on him and bending over him to know if he still breathed, not daring to kindle a fire, watching thus in cruel anxiety through the long hours of night.

CANAL TOWING BY STEAM.—They are talking of introducing steam to tow the boats on the Erie Canal by laying down or submerging two wire cables on the bed of the canal. The cable is picked up by the boat as it travels, which is pulled along through the water by the aid of iron wheels attached to its side, and driven by an engine on board. The wheels are grooved and so constructed as to grasp the cable with sufficient force to pull the boat along the cable at a greater speed than horses can tow it. It is also much more economical, and avoids collisions and jams, now so common, as the boats going in one direction all take the same cable, and those going in the opposite direction take the other. It will be a great improvement, when fairly inaugurated.

DEATH OF EX-GOVERNOR KING OF NEW YORK.—Hon. John A. King died at Jamaica (L. I.) July 5th. He was born in 1788, and was the second son of Rufus King, our Minister to Great Britain in 1795. With his brother Charles, the President of Columbia College, he was sent to Harrow School, and to a school in Paris in 1803. In 1824 he was elected to the Assembly of New York, and remained there until 1821. He subsequently served there in 1832, and again in 1840. In 1823 he was a State Senator. He was chosen to the lower house of Congress in 1849. In 1856 he was elected Governor of New York, and served in that capacity for one term without doing anything particularly notable. At the time of his death he occupied various honorary positions, among others that of President of the Union Club.

Gen. Longstreet's recent letters on Reconstruction have raised a storm in the Southern journals against him. But, a newspaper squall at the South no more indicates what public sentiment in that section actually is, than such commotions do at the North. Recently there have been squalls in the Northern journals, which only signified that many editors can without being sent. There was no such boisterousness amongst the people.

THE RUSSO-AMERICAN TELEGRAPH.—The managers of this enterprise, the extension of which across Behring's Straits has been abandoned, have proposed to complete and put in working as far as Sitka, provided the Government will grant an annual subsidy of $20,000, for which the company will transmit all Government mail all purely scientific messages free.—Mining Press.

Why Don't They Propose.

A great social ulcer is slowly but surely sapping the strength of our national existence. Like the worms of our wharves and piers, it is undermining the very foundation of modern society. We allude to the fact that young men who glory in perfect manhood (this constituting their only wealth) had rather face the cannon's mouth than the matrimonial altar. Every sensible young man bequeathing the world for himself says: "I cannot afford to hang a mill-stone around my neck;" so he flirts around among his female acquaintances like a bee in a clover field, sipping a little honey here and there, dusting his feet with precious pollen, while the years slide away, and old Time with his sickle mows the hair off the top of his head, and sets the crow's feet in the corners of his eyes, and chips away his handsome ivory, and sprinkles his beautiful beard with hoar frost. A desperate battle is being fought, but the strongest man is only mortal, whilst time is eternal. So some fine morning (God help him!) he wakes up and finds himself a middle aged man, with no sweet voice to lisp "Papa," no soul companion to smoothe the stony track down the vale of years. Alone! Homeless! His life-boat afloat on the ocean of time, outside the glimmering of friendly beacon lights, outside the hope even of reaching the harbor in safety. He has outlived every innocent, youthful pleasure; he has ascended the last round in the ladder of dispensation, he has tasted the fruit of every forbidden tree. Everything pails upon this weary, worn senses. He has squeezed every particle of juice out of the orange of life, and there is nothing left but the bitter pool and slimy seeds. The very foundation of sorrow is uprooted in our bosom when we contemplate the fraction of a family—this lonely, blase man. If he has accumulated wealth by this time, so much the worse for him; for in order to prevent any sudden surprise, he is tortured by being obliged to sleep upon his arms. It is true he can buy a wife now, but it is the ordering a dinner for an invalid: the appetite is gone. Dear old bachelor, rich or poor, there is a terrible mistake somewhere, and you are the victim, and you must pay the penalty with a price ten thousand times the value of Shylock's pound of flesh—namely, a wasted, dissatisfied life.

What man, with the ordinary, average amount of intellect allowed to humanity, would dare to marry a modern young lady, such as make up our boarding schools—you, such as the majority, comprise?

Do not think, pretty little good-for-nothing rosebuds, that we blame you! Who would be so silly as to expect you to leave your downy pillows and sweet dreams, and go into the kitchen and put your finger tips into that sticky dough? We know the cook left without any warning, but "mamma" can do it. Why not? Is she not the self elected chief servant of the household? We don't expect you to arise, and with hair tucked behind those dainty, shell like ears, with real roses in your cheeks, and long, broad apron before that neat chintz gown, take tired mamma's place and see that breakfast is all right for "papa" and all the household. Unless baby in long clothes, you are not to blame for shrinking from everything disagreeable. Has not mamma tried her best to spoil you, and if she has not admirably succeeded, can it be said to be her fault? Has she not carefully infused into your young, tender mind, that you were made of a substance a little more ethereal and sublimated than herself? In her longings after the ideal, has she not taken you as a sacrifice to the altar, even as Abraham did Isaac? But in place of a ram, tied by the horns, she expects to find a rich husband. Pretty dove! Your eyes may be the bluest, your lips, twin cherries, your feet the daintiest that ever kissed the pavement, and yet your mother will say, "Why don't they propose?"

Every sensible, marriageable young man says he cannot marry your mother at the same time that he does you; consequently, as he cannot afford an "establishment," there will be no use that the house is in order, the dinner properly cooked, the stockings darned—in fact, he sees no way of plucking out of the domestic household all that is disagreeable, leaving only a bed of down.

If by an unforseen accident a young, tender plant is transplanted to a "home of her own," oh, fairy god-mother, come with your magic wand, for the time has come, above all things, when your services are sorely needed. Poor little bird, trying to fly with her untried wings. Sent out into the world of life without the slightest armor of experience, with no weapon upon earth except her husband's love; and though this, in the beginning, may be as strong as a Damascus blade, the crushing weight that is sometimes brought to rest upon it will make it snap like a ship's spar in a hurricane.

Oh, that the mistaken parents (we will spare them any harsher names), the true author of all this misery, could look down the long vista of years and see the harvest of bleeding hearts, shattered hopes and skeleton fears which they were the means of sowing broadcast, but which ripens in to-day's sun only to blight and mildew other homes nearer and far dearer than their own.
